CAREER OPPORTUNITIES AFTER PURSUING LAW DEGREE

Legum Baccalgureus or Bachelor in.Laws is an undergraduate 3/5year professional degree course that allows a person to practice law. The degree is offered for 3 years for graduates and 5-year for students who wish to pursue law after senior secondary examination. Bar Council of India (BCI) is the regulatory body of Legal Education in India. Both, holders of $\frac{3}{2}$ and 5-year degree are eligible for enrolment with the Bar Council of India upon fulfilment of eligibility criteria.

In the early days, the career in Law was confined only to legislative executives and judicial services. But now the opportunities are diversified and ample opportunities are available in the fields like media, intellectual property rights, information technology, data protection, Apart from this, Law students find the career in the corporate firms and banks. They can enter three major organs of the Government viz. Legislature, Executive and Judiciary. Perhaps, LLB opens the door to a wide set of opportunities that cannot be boasted by other career options.

BMS College of Law provides career building apportunities during the course of study through,

- 1. Internship
- 2. Moot-Court Training
- 3. Legal aid and legal awareness drive
- 4. Student Seminar
- 5. Client Counselling
- 6. Debates
- 7. Placement Opportunity after the completion of the course, etc.

Below are some of the major options available to LLB graduates after completion of their courses.

1. Advocate

Advocacy is one of the chief professions chosen by LAW graduates. Students choosing this path can practice in the courts. Note that the aspirants have to qualify the examination conducted by the All India Bar council first, in order to qualify for their practice. Once they enrol with All India Bar Council, they can opt to practice in any court across the country.

Before becoming a good advocate, every aspirant has to first gather some experience as a Junior assistant with a senior advocate. This involves drafting files and studying legal documents and cases. This helps them gain a lot of perspective about the law. Therefore, after knowing the various aspects of the law, they would be ready to work as an independent lawyer. The options are plenty when it comes to the different branches of law you can practice in.

Government Services

Students can opt to join Government Services after completing their LLB. If they prepare themselves, they would be eligible for Indian Legal Services and the various posts that it offers. This includes Legislative Counsel in the Legislative department and Legal advisors in the Department of Legal Affairs. This requires the aspirants to qualify the exam held by the Public Service Commission. Certain legislative counsels are appointed under the legislative department. Those qualified would also be eligible to join the Air Force, Indian Army, and the Navy. They are also eligible to take up the exams organised by UPSC (Union Public Service Commission) or SPSC (State Public Service Commission). They also have the option of becoming an Assistant Public Prosecution or Public Prosecutor.

Legal Advisor

After completing your LLB, you can become a legal advisor or join law firms, Private Companies, Corporate firms, or Banks. You can provide advice on various legal matters. Furthermore, your legal expertise could also be used in NGOs. These provide their clients with legal advisory services. They also help people to make the correct decision in a given situation. Most large corporations and government organizations hire legal advisors.

Judiciary

Students are also free to work for the Judicial machinery of Country as a Judge or Magistrate. This requires them to pass a Judicial examination conducted by the Public Service Commission. The lowest post of the Magistrate, Subjudge, or Munsif is filled up by the latest recruitments through Public Service Commission or by the supervision of High Court.

Teaching

Students with impressive academic ability and with the skill of explaining and narrating different topics to a group of people are good fits to become a lecturer in one of the best-recognized Universities or a Law College of the country.

If they choose to do LLM, they could go on to complete research in their respective field of study and earn a Ph.D. One can also become the professor in Government Universities and Private Universities too.

Legal Outsourcing

Legal outsourcing refers to the practice of a law firm that acquires legal services from an exterior firm. This service is called off sharing if the outsourced entity has its origins in another country. This is one of the fields where the potential has not fully been reached. There are several opportunities for the people of the country to grab the opportunities in this field.

Private Companies

There is great scope for law graduates to join private firms across the country. They can choose to become the legal advisor and help the company with legal decisions. In case someone is looking for a well-paid job, they can get an MBA after their LLB. One can get a dual post in companies. Firstly, they could work as legal advisors. Secondly, would be able to take part in the business administration.

Higher Education

In case one wish to gain better knowledge in a specialised area of law, one can choose from among several options available for higher studies in Law. This includes research work, or LLM Ph.D. in various fields of law.

Writer of Law Books /Reports /Journalist

If one excels at writing and understand the law well, then this profession is the right one for you. If one is capable of writing and editing law books used by law students or if one is able to write legal reports for various publications or newspapers, this job would fit well. One can also work with a journalist as a guide all the time.

Legal Analyst

Law graduates could join law firms or corporate firm and conduct analyses regarding the law sphere about the company and its functions. This requires aspirants to own a license in order to practice law.Legal Analysts also have the ability to assist in drafting various legal documents and also assists attorneys. In the case of financial law, this is a great option.

Legal Researcher

A legal researcher is someone responsible for researching various cases and finding ways to win a case. It includes general topics regarding the laws, in other words, they are the ones that the lawyers hire in order to gain a deeper insight into the cases and legal nuances. Therefore, this is also an interesting profession to law graduate.

Politics

If one is interested in taking part in the governance of the country or have a political background, one can enter politics after earning a law degree. This is helped by the fact that you will have deep knowledge regarding all three domains of the government-Legislature, Executive and Judiciary. This allows one to contribute actively to the nation and become a politician. Note that in India, joining politics does not mandate any educational qualification. However, there are several of the top political leaders in the country who are law graduates. Besides, Indian political history is the best proof for the fact that the lawyers are the best politicians out there.

LLM

If you want to study further about law, you can choose to study LLM. This will help you gain a specialised view on a particular branch of law and you would be able to master that particular section. This might also be an opportunity to choose a career path as the specialization means that they would spend their time in that area of law. An LLM course will not just help you gain a deeper perspective, but it will help you get jobs that pay you better.

Remuneration

The remuneration available in the field of law is dependent on the type of career one chooses. In the case of government jobs, there would be many additional benefits apart from the basic pay. Government servants are receiving a considerably good salary package in the country. The other professions, even though private also carn a significant amount of money.

Conclusion

Completing a law course is one of the first steps to a successful career in the field of law. There are numerous opportunities available to a law graduate in the various fields.

CIRCULAR.

Sub : Clarification about the cluster of subjects for minor-I and minor-II for 5year B.A.,L.L.B. Programme of Karnataka State Law University, Hubli.

Ref: 1. No.KSLU/Acad-II/BOS.UG/Syllabus/2014-15/747, dated. 10-07-2014.

Approval of Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, dated: 28.07.2014.

In view of the fact that several colleges are seeking clarification as to which of the subjects are to be classified as minor-I and minor-II subjects and also keeping in mind the efficiency and administrative aspects, the following clarification is issued.

The cluster of subjects for minor-L shall be Kannada, Sociology and History.
 A student has to choose one of these subjects other than his major subject as minor-L.

The cluster of subjects for minor-II. Shall be Political Science and Economics.
 A student has to choose one of these subjects other than his major subject as minor-II.

Therefore, all the Principals are hereby informed to bring it to the notice of the concerned teachers and students and inform the University about the major and minor subjects offered in their colleges on or before 05-08-2014.

Program: 5 Year B.Com. LL.B Degree Course

This course prepares students for professional practice as legal advisors to businesses, to business-oriented NGOs, and to government entities. The coursework combines a degree of sophistication in terms of legal content and upgrades student's commercial and regulatory skills. The objective is to deliver highly relevant legal knowledge set in a practical commercial and regulatory context. To achieve this, courses are taught by a combination of law academics and leading practitioners.

Programme Educational Objectives:

- To develop a background in fundamental areas of business law.
- To provide students breadth, expertise and a foundation for professional practice.
- To develop fundamental in-depth knowledge and understanding of: the principles, concepts, values, substantive rules and development of the Indian legal system and core areas of business law.
- To develop intellectual rigor as well as more general transferable intellectual skills which are of value in the practice of Law and a wide range of careers.
- To provide our graduates with self-confidence, knowledge, understanding and skills that will provide added benefit to them as individuals, to the legal profession and to society as a whole

Programme Outcome:

- · Develop a deepened understanding of law in a variety of contexts.
- Critically engage with the role of law in managerial practice.
- Display the ability to deal with different types of legal issues and laws.
- · Apply critical and contextual approaches across a wide variety of subject matter.
- · Develop the ability to analyze, articulate and write on the subject.

Note: Program Outcomes (POs)and Course Outcomes(Cos) for all programs offered by the institution are stated and displayed on website and communicated to teachers and students

PROGRAMME OUTCOMES FÖR LLB

1. Knowledge and Understanding

Display an awareness and understanding of the ethical, social, political and economic context in which the basic concepts, values, principles and rules of the h Legal System

Intellectual skills

To present logical legal arguments by exhibiting the ability to research and critically analyse and apply legal knowledge in legal problem solving and conflicting perspectives

3. Professional Skills

Communicate effectively in oral and in writing, using language and legal terminology accurately and effectively

4. Transferable skills

Demonstrate an ability to organise and prioritise work and engage in effective teamwork

5. Employability *

Demonstrate a willingness to continuously improve skills and abilities through critical self-reflection and evaluation and initiative to find solutions to issues and problems.

PROGRAMME SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to demonstrate that they have the ability:

- Apply a systematic approach to the acquisition of knowledge, underpinning concepts and principles
- 2. Deploy a range of subject specific, cognitive and transferable skills
- evaluate the appropriateness of different approaches to solving well defined problems and communicate outcomes in a structured and clear manner;
- Identify and discuss the relationship between personal and work place experience and analyze findings from books and journals and other data drawn from the field of study.
- Conduct sustained, independent research on a self-defined topic with limited supervision
- 6. Critically evaluate and assess complex areas of legal knowledge within a wider social, economic, political, historical, philosophical, ethical, cultural and environmental context
 - 7. Critically assess law reform proposals and present alternatives
 - Present critical arguments, drawing on both doctrinal and policy-based perspectives from a wide range of sources, in both written and oral form
 - Apply legal knowledge to complex problem situations and offer potential solutions within a simulated professional context.
 - Define, sustain and critically reflect upon their own learning and practical/professional skills development as autonomous learners

FACULTY SEMINAR - ABSTRACT

Name: Ms. Ramya, K

Designation: Assistant Professor

Topic: SURROGACY: The Bill, The Ban, The Debate

Abstract:

Surrogacy, one of the most debated procedures, for it is associated with various ethical, religious and legal issues. Through this Seminar, the author purports to provide an insight about Surrogacy as a technical procedure, the pros and cons of the same. The author also looks into the legal provisions pertaining to Surrogacy in various legal systems and compares the same with the position of legal provisions related to Surrogacy in India. The concept of commercial surrogacy and altruistic surrogacy are also covered.

Surrogacy Bill and the debate revolving around the Bill is an integral part of the Seminar. A few suggestions of the author regarding the Bill and the need to have a liberal approach is prioritized.

Key Words:

Surrogacy, The Bill, Legal issues, Ethical issues, commercial, altruistic

The role of Artificial Intelligence (AI) as a tool for dissemination of Justice - Issues and Challenges

Abhishek Sharma P*

The scientific and technological advancements have bought transformation in the lives of the people. The advent of Artificial Intelligence (AI) an umbrella term referred to the automation of selected manual tasks has left an indelible impact on the lives of the individuals and is poised as the probable factor for future unemployment. There is distinctiveness in the application of Al to the discipline of Law as complete automation is not possible and not advisable. Laws are subjected to recurring interpretations by the Courts to suit the changes in the societal interactions and this makes it difficult to codify the same into machine readable format, a perquisite for the application of Al. The Judicial Process of deciding a case involves the consideration of various subjective factors and the relevance of these factors varies in each case. The decision making power of the Judges cannot be relinquished or substituted with an automated process of generation of a decision based on a predetermined coding language. The concept of Assisted Intelligence (ASI) as a modified version of the AI can be applied in the field of Law which involves the use of Technology to aid the Judges and Advocates in performing various Judicial tasks and this will assist the Judges in saving the time spent on manual performance of tasks, leaving them with ample time to decide the case by applying the Legal Principles. This paper is based on the argument that limited application of AI is inevitable in the Judicial Process to achieve the Constitutional goal of the speedy and efficient dissemination of Justice. The author herein has adopted the Doctrinal Research Method for analyzing the way in which limited application of AI as ASI can lend a helping hand to the Judges and Advocates in performance of Judicial Tasks

Key Words: Artificial Intelligence, Laws, Judicial Process, Assisted Intelligence, Justice

Report on Faculty Seminar

Faculty Seminar for the odd semester 2020 -21 was conducted virtually on Saturday, 26 December 2020 from 10:30 AM. onwards. Faculties discussed the research paper on contemporary legal and commercial issues during the Seminar.

To elicit participation from students and faculties a registration form was circulated and the faculty coordinator has received 172 registrations.

Faculty Coordinator for the seminar played the role of moderator between the presenters in the seminar.

The session commenced with Opening Remarks by the coordinator, welcoming all the participants, faculty members and the students comprising of audience.

Assistant professor Sri. Abhishek Sharma P. discussed on the topic "The role of Artificial Intelligence (AI) as a tool for dissemination of Justice Issues and Challenges". He started his presentation by giving introduction about the advent of Artificial Intelligence (AI). He discussed distinctiveness in the application of AI to the discipline of Law and why complete automation is not possible and not advisable. He also discussed about the difficulties to codify the law into machine readable format, a perquisite for the application of AI. explained the concept of commercial surrogacy and altruistic surrogacy. Surrogacy Bill and the debate revolving around the Bill was part of her discussion. She concluded her presentation with few suggestions regarding the Bill and the need to have a liberal approach towards surrogacy.

Assistant professor Dr. Shreekara K. discussed on the topic "Demystifying chart pattens in Stock market". He started his presentation with introduction of importance and different kinds of chart patterns that are used in stock market. He discussed elaborately about characteristics of each chart and their use and significance in stock market Faculty Coordinator for the seminar Assistant Professor Pratibha Singh, proposed vote of thanks.

The entire program was coordinated with the support of the principal, faculties and non-faculty members.

Overall, it was an interactive and informative session.

INDUSTRIAL VISIT:

RAPSRI INDUSTRIAC URSIT

The late R.A. Padmanathan (RAP) and his two sons Srinivas (SRI) and Mr. P. Sriram (SRI) founded RAPSRI in the year 1971. Rapsri has since then emerged to become one of the largest copper alloy foundries in India serving niche business segments with high quality products.

The company has been run by three generations of entrepreneurs and an enthusiastic team of professionals. Sustained focus on technology, research and development has resulted in its reputation for being a niche player in the global arena. Combine this with its strong process and systems orientation, it provides customers worldwide with a value proposition that results in Rapsri is now poised to become a globally dominant player in this niche space with remarkable success in USA, UK and Europe. Rapsri has a track record of exporting its products to global OEMs since 1980 and currently approx. 40% of its total production is exported.

The performance of the operating management in Rapsri is overseen by a Board of Directors. The board of Rapsri delegates authority of the day to day running of the business according to an approved rolling business plan to the executive directors.

Quality Policy

Rapsri is committed to continuously upgrading its systems and processes which are calibrated to international standards and certified by certification audit agencies of international repute. Rapsri believes that product quality is ensured by reliable processes which conform to stringent systems audits. After having been certified to ISO 9002, ISO 9001 and QS 9000, Rapsri is now certified to TS 16949 standards for automotive customers and ISO 9001:2000 for non automotive customers.

Rapsri's stated quality policy is follows:

QUALITY POLICY

We will strive to satisfy customers by consciously adding value in all our product and service offerings. We will implement engineering, systemic and technological suggestions for improvement aimed at mutual benefit.

We will provide an environment for business partners which inspires innovation, change, and self development towards creating wealth.

Excellence will be synonymous with any Rapsri endeavour.

QUALITY OBJECTIVES

Improve systems and practices continuously for achieving product and process superiority. Develop engineering and technological skills towards enhancing the value proposition. Select and apply the appropriate techniques that will enable us to dominate the global market. Consistent with Rapsri's commitment to continuously upgrade its systems, Rapsri is planning to go in for ISO 14000 for environmental standards and for AS 9100 for aero space certification.

The process of manufacture is monitored for capability of CpK higher than 1.33 for Critical to Quality characteristics that are either customer designated or internally determined.

Continuous Castings: Manufacturing Process

Manufacturing Process Foundry:

Continuous casting is a process in which solidifying metal is extracted through an open ended mold fitted with a cooling unit. Heat is extracted and the metal exits the mold as a solid with a constant cross section. It allows lower cost production of metal sections with better quality, due to finer control through automation of the easting process. Generally a saw is set up after the withdrawal rolls, in order to cut the casting at constant lengths. The castings are semi-finished products, which are further processed in extrusion, drawing, rolling or machining operations.

Mold heat transfer is both critical and complex. Mathematical and computer modeling are typically utilized in developing a greater understanding of mold thermal conditions, and to aid in proper design and operating practices. Heat transfer is generally considered as a series of thermal resistances as follows:

Heat transfer through the solidifying shell

Heat transfer from the shell surface to the graphite sleeve

Heat transfer through the graphite sleeve

Heat transfer from the graphite sleeve outer surface to the copper cooler

Heat transfer through the copper cooler inner surface to the cooling water

Continuous Casting has evolved from a batch process into a sophisticated continuous process. This transformation has occurred through understanding principles of mechanical design, heattransfer, metallurgical properties and stress-strain relationships, to produce a product with excellent shape and quality. In recent years, the process has been optimized through careful integration of electro-mechanical sensors, computer-control and production planning to provide a highly-automated system designed for ever demanding market requirements. Rapsri have two state-of-the-art Continuous Castings machines with complete PLC controls and advanced Quick Die Change Technology.

Permanent Mold Castings: Manufacturing Processes

Manufacturing Process Foundry:

The casting profile is machined into a specialty mould material (two or more depending on the complexity of the part), along with the gating system. The machined molds are then assembled along with required cores into a die assembly. The metal is poured into a die which then flows under gravity while being skillfully tilted to fill the mould appropriately. After the casting is removed from the cavity the moulds and cores are cooled in a proprietary solution which readies it for the next cycle.

Unlike sand molds, these metallic molds are re-usable and are cost effective for bulk production. Also, due to the nature of cooling profile that can be achieved in these molds, they result in producing better surface finish, better mechanical properties and also can achieve close dimensional tolerances that are not achievable through sand castings. It also produces very high density castings that are pressure tight and have excellent structural characteristics.

However, manufacturing though permanent mold process require special design capability, including selection of die/core materials, choosing parting line, providing efficient gating systems, and tilting angles. Rapsri has proven design capability for permanent mold design and manufacturing, developed by a strong in-house R&D department.

Rapsri can manufacture permanent mold castings ranging from a few grams to up to about 20 kilograms. While the smaller sizes are manufactured by manual process, the bigger sizes are manufactured on machine with automated PLC controlled tilting and mold coating facility. Permanent mold casting is often referred to as Gravity Die Casting – since the flow of metal into the mold is only assisted by gravity alone.

Manufacturing Process Machining:

- · Turning (CNC Turning Centers, Conventional Lathes)
- · Milling (CNC Milling, Conventional Milling Machines)
- Drilling (Radial Drilling Machine, Drill Tap Center)
- Vertical Machining Centers

The process of machining castings is mainly by poka-yoke (mistake proofing) fixturing that ensures the quality of the part as it moves through the production chain. Critical to quality dimensions that are either customer defined or internally defined are calibrated to CpK of 1.33 or better.

Surface plating in Silver, Tin or Nickel is outsourced with Rapsri designed process.

Sand Castings: Manufacturing Process

Manufacturing Processes:

- · CO2 Sand Moulding (2kgs to 100 Kgs)
- · Shell Moulding (100 gms to 10 kgs)

CO2 Process:

The sand mixture used in this process is pure silica and sodium silicate. The molding mixture thus obtained is rammed around the pattern and gassed with carbon dioxide (CO₂). The molding mixture gets hardened due to the formation of silica gel. After passing CO₂, the pattern is removed and the mold cavity is ready for pouring.

 $Na_20 + mSiO_2$, $xH_20 + CO_2 = Na_2CO_3 + mSiO_2$, xH_20

Properties of silicates vary according to the silica (SiO₂)-soda (NaO) ratio of the sodium silicate base that is used to formulate the binder. Considerable care must be used when gassing with CO₂ since overgassing and undergassing adversely affect the properties of the cured binding system. The amount of silicate binder used for cores and molds varies from 3% to 6% depending on the type of sand, grain fineness, and degree of sand contaminants.

Shell Molding Process:

Shell mold casting process is a technique in which liquid metal is poured into a cavity formed from a sand mixture. Shell molding process offers better surface finish, better dimensional tolerances, and higher throughput due to reduced cycle times and the fact that the process can be automated. These qualities of precision can be obtained in a wider range of alloys and with greater flexibility in design than die-casting and at a lower cost than investment casting. The process was developed and patented by Croning in Germany during World War II and is sometimes referred to as the Cronning shell process.

Like any other sand casting process, here too the first step in making shell molds is sand preparation. Sand of required quality & grade is sieved and then mixed thoroughly along with a thermoset plastic. When this sand mixture comes in contact with a heated match plate containing pattern and the required gating system, a thin shell of 3.5 to 5mm thick is formed on the surface of the match plate. The shell so formed is peeled-off from the match plate and then closed together by employing proper paste to form the mold cavity. Liquid metal when poured into this shell mold cavity, takes the shape of the casting, which is then fettled and processed as required.

This process can produce complex parts with good surface finish 1.25 μ m to 3.75 μ m (50 μ in to 150 μ in) rms, and dimensional tolerance of 0.5 %. Size limits of 30 g to 12 kg (1 oz to 25 lb). Minimum thicknesses can be as low as 1.5 mm (0.062 in) to 6.25 mm (0.25 in), depending on the material. Good surface finish and good size tolerance reduce the need for machining.

The equipment necessary for the production of shell molds may range from simple dump box rigging to highly mechanized and completely automatic blowing machinery. Production equipment is of two basic types, one in which the mold making steps of investment, curing, stripping, pattern cleaning and straying are incorporated in a single station machine and the other a multi-station unit where the mold making steps are arranged to take place simultaneously.

The process is good for producing parts requiring:

- · Thin Sections
- · Intricate Details
- · Close Dimensional Tolerances
- · Excellent Surface Finish
- · High Volumes

BMS COLLEGE OF LAW, BENGALURU- STUDENT COUNCIL GUIDELINES

CHAPTER 1: INTRODUCTION

The establishment of Student Council play an integral and important role in the student community. Student Council provide a representative structure through which students can debate issues of concern and undertake initiatives of benefit to the college and the wider community

Students have a voice and a contribution to make to their college. It is important that they be given the opportunity to express their views on issues of concern to them in the college. It is equally important that they are listened to and encouraged to take an active part in promoting the aims and objectives of the college.

The guidelines mentioned in this manual are intended to provide practical guidance to Student Council members in the establishment and operation of the Student Council.

What is a Student Council?

A Student Council is a representative structure through which students in the college can become involved in the affairs of the college, working in partnership with the Administration of the College, staff and students for the benefit of the college and its students.

CHAPTER 2: OBJECTIVES OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL

- To support the Administration of the College and staff in the development of the college
- 2. To enhance communication between students, Administration of the College and staff
- 3. To promote an environment conducive to educational and personal development
- 4. To promote friendship and respect among pupils
- 5. To represent the views of the students on matters of general concern to them

The Student Council and the Administration of the College

- The college shall establish and maintain procedures for the purpose of informing about the activities in the college.
- The college shall encourage and help students to set up aStudent Council and shall assist a Student Council when established.
- The college shall draw up rules for the establishment of aStudent Council; that shall provide for the selection of members and the dissolution of a Council.
- The college will have a role in considering the rules governing meetings of the Student Council, and the conduct of its affairs.
- 5. The Administration of the College will give active support to the Student Council. This could involve designating a student advisor in the college to communicate with the Council on an ongoing basis, as well as assisting the Council in drawing up a constitution and in planning and organising its activities.

II. The Student Council and the Principal

The role of the Principal is of central importance in the establishment and operation of a Student Council. In assisting the Administration of the College in the development of college policy, and in working with teachers and to implement it at day-to-day level, the Principal is centrally placed in all aspects of the college's operations.

In the initial stages, the Principal, together with the other teachers, will assist in the development of a Student Council in several ways, for example, by discussing with students by advising on the appropriate constitution or statement of objectives. As the Council develops and begins to expand its role, the Principal will assist in guiding the Council's development, so as to allow for a constructive and purposeful Council.

More generally, the Principal can promote a college culture which recognises the potentially valuable input that students can make, through a Student Council, into the development of the college.

III. The Student Council and the Co-ordinator

The role of the Co-ordinator is of importance in the operation of a Student Council. The coordinator should assist the Administration of the College in the development of college policy, and in working with students and to implement it at day-to-day level.

In the initial stages, the Principal, together with the Co-ordinator and other teachers, will assist in the development of a Student Council in several ways, for example, by discussing with students the role of a Student Council and the role of individual representatives on the Council and by advising on an appropriate constitution or statement of objectives. As the Council develops and begins to expand its role, the Principal will assist in guiding the Council's development, so as to allow for a constructive and purposeful Council.

More generally, the Principal can promote a college culture which recognises the potentially valuable input that students can make, through a Student Council, into the development of the college.

IV. The Student Council and Teachers

Developing a spirit of partnership and co-operation between a Student Council and teachers has benefits for both. The Student Council can play an important role in recognising and supporting the work of teachers. Similarly, the interest and support of teachers will be of great value to a Student Council, particularly during the early stages of its development.

It is generally desirable for a member of the teaching staff to attend meetings of the Council. The support and guidance offered by a teacher will be very useful to a Council when planning its activities, and providing for a teacher to attend Council meetings will help to build a co-operative and good working relationship between students and staff of the college.

CHAPTER 3: KEY FUNCTIONS OF STUDENT COUNCIL

The functions and activities of a Student Council should support the aims and objectives of the Council and promote the development of the college and the welfare of its students. In planning and undertaking activities during the course of the college year, the Council should:

- 1. Work closely with the Administration of the College, teachers and students,
- 2. Consult regularly with students in the college, and
- Involve as many students as possible in the activities of the Council. There is a wide range of activities of benefit to the college community which a Student Council may wish to undertake, some of which are outlined below;

Representing the views of the student body to the college Administration of the College

This should be one of the fundamental aims of every Council. It involves talking and listening to the student body, considering their views and concerns, and discussing these with the college Administration of the College on behalf of the students.

II. Promoting good communications within the college

Improving communication within the college community is a shared responsibility and a Student Council can contribute to this process. Making presentations at staff meetings to keep staff informed of activities, keeping a Student Council notice-board or organising a regular newsletter are just some ways the Council can communicate with the students and staff.

III. Supporting the educational development and progress of students

The Student Council can contribute to the learning environment for students in the college by, for example, setting up study groups for students in exam classes or homework clubs, or organising lunch time activities such as language clubs.

IV. Assisting with induction and/or mentoring for new first year students

Starting college life is a challenging new experience for 1st Year students. During the mentoring programme senior students help new students to find their feet and can help their integration into the college community.

V. Contributing to the development of college policy

Phone: 080-26679336, 26602430

E-mail: bmscl@yahoo.in Website: www.bmscl.ac.in

The Student Council can actively contribute to the development of college policy in a wide range of areas viz. influencing, uniform requirements, behaviour code, extra-curricular activities etc. The Council could form sub-committees to consider individual policy issues.

VI. Assisting in college sporting and cultural activities

Student Council can assist in organising and developing sports and cultural activities within the college, including, for example, sports days and drama or musical events.

VII. Assisting with or organising fund-raising events for charity or any other social

Student Council can organise events both within the college and involving the wider community, for the purposes of raising money for designated charities or for any other social cause.

VIII. Bridging with Student Council in other colleges

It may be useful for a Student Council to bridge with Student Council in other colleges, particularly in the organisation of sporting and cultural activities and when fund-raising. An existing Student Council could have a useful role in helping and advising a newly formed Student Council in another college.

CHAPTER 4: GUIDELINES FOR ESTABLISHMENT AND DISSOLUTION OF STUDENT COUNCIL

The college after consultation with teachers draw up rules for the establishment of a Student Council, having regard to the following basic principles:

- The Student Council shall promote the interests of the college and the involvement of students in the affairs of the college, in co-operation with the college and teachers
- The Council should, as far as is practicable, be representative of the student community
- The college shall at all times retain the right to dissolve a Council or remove a Council member, in accordance with these guidelines.

1. Establishing a Student Council

The college should provide them, in a timely manner, with a copy of the rules it has drawn up in accordance with these guidelines.

2. Size and Composition of a Student Council

The size and composition of a Student Council shall be determined by the college having regard both to the need for the Council to be representative of all students in the college and the need for it to function effectively. It may not always be appropriate for each class to have a representative on the Council. Appropriate gender balance on the Council should be given priority.

3. Nominations

The Principal should set a date for the selection of representative(s) to the Student Council and its formation.

- i. Elections: any number of students can contest elections to become student council representative from their own class only. Each such students are to be considered as the contestants for the said post. All such remaining students of the respective class will vote for the candidates and elect them through Open Ballot election. Among the contestants the student who seeks highest vote declared elected as a student representative from that class to the student council. It is mandatory that gender equality should be maintained. Example: I Boy & I Girl from each class
- Oath: All elected student representatives will be administered oath by the principal on the date and time as notified.

4. First Meeting

The Principal or a designated member of staff should convene the first meeting of each newly formed Council. The first meeting of a newly formed Council should take place early in the academic year.

I. APPOINTMENT OF OFFICE BEARERS:

 APPOINTMENT OF PRESIDENT: (Reserved for FINAL YEAR STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE)

Among the elected representatives of the Final Year Batch one person will be elected through In-Direct Elections by the Elected Student Council for the post of President of the Student Council.

Removal: The President may be removed from office by the process called 'Impeachment' on grounds of proven misbehaviour and inefficiency. The motion for Impeachment is to be initiated in the Student Council. However, before impeaching the President a 14 days' advance notice must be given of the said cause endorsed and signed by not less than 1/4th of the members of the student Council.

of the one person will be elected through In-Direct Elections by the Elected

Removal: The joint Secretary may be removed from office on the recommendation of the President and backed up by not less than ½ number of the Student council representatives.

 CO-SECRETARIES: Among the elected representatives the required number of person will be elected as Co-secretaries through In-Direct Elections by the Elected Student Council

Removal: The Co-Secretary may be removed from office on the recommendation of the President and backed up by not less than ½ number of the Student council representatives.

5. Constitution

The Student Council may make rules governing its meetings and the business and conduct of its affairs, but it shall consult with the advisor before doing so.

6. Dissolution of a Student Council

Normally a Student Council shall stand dissolved when the term of office of the members expires. Administration of the College may dissolve the Student Council before the expiry of its term in accordance with the rules and procedures governing dissolution.

This will only happen in exceptional circumstances after consultation with all concerned. Where Administration of the College intends dissolving the Council, it will give the Council adequate notice of the proposal, and the reasons therefore. The Council will be allowed to appeal the dissolution to the Administration of the College or Principal of the college

Where the Student Council is dissolved another Council may be formed following the procedures outlined earlier. Where a Council is dissolved less than 6 weeks before the end of the college year, the appointment of a new Council may reasonably be left until the following academic year. Circumstances that may require the early dissolution of a Student Council include:

- Where a significant number of members of the Council have been involved in a serious breach of the college's code of behaviour
- ii. Where serious irregularities have occurred in the functioning of the Council
- Where the activities of the Council have endangered the welfare of staff or students of the college
- iv. Where serious financial irregularities have occurred
- v. It will not be appropriate to dissolve a Council where only a few of its members have been involved in a breach of the college. In those circumstances, the college should only consider removal of those students concerned.

7. Removing a member or members of the Council

Sometimes it may be more appropriate to remove an individual member (or members) of the Council rather than dissolve the Council as a whole. This may happen in two ways:

The Student Council may remove any member or officer of the Council for a continuing failure to attend meetings of the Council, or for a lack of commitment to the purposes of the Council, or for stated misconduct (including significant breaches of the college's code of behaviour). Such a decision should be taken on a special majority of vote of the Council, and the member should be given adequate notice of the proposal, the reasons there for, and the opportunity to present his/her case.

The Administration of the College, on the advice of the Principal or on its own initiative, may remove a member of the Council in accordance with the rules and procedures in this regard. Both the member concerned and the Council should be given adequate notice of the proposal, the reasons there for and the opportunity to appeal the removal to the Administration of the College or Principal of the college.

8. Filling a vacancy on the Council

Where a member is removed or resigns from office, the resulting vacancy should be filled in accordance with the procedures.

CHAPTER 5: STUDENT COUNCIL GETTING STARTED

Students should pay careful attention to the rules they are given and should not hesitate to ask the Co-ordinator if they don't understand some part of the rules or need advice in general. At this stage regular communication with the Principal and teaching staff is necessary as it is important that everyone works together and that trust is built up between the students involved and the staff.

1. The composition of a Student Council includes

President-1 Vice-president-1 Secretary-1 Joint secretary-2 Treasurer-1 Joint Treasurer-2 Editorial Secretary-1 Joint Editorial Secretary-3 Literary Secretary-1 Cultural Secretary-1 Joint Cultural Secretary-2 Moot Court Secretary-1 Joint Moot-court Secretary-2 Sports Secretary-1 Joint Sports Secretary-2 Co-secretaries- As Required

Staff Advisors:

- i. Principal
- ii. Student advisor- Student Council Co-Ordinator
- iii. Cultural advisor (Designated Professor)
- iv. Sports advisor (Designated Professor)
- v. Finance advisor (Designated Professor)
- vi. Literary advisor (Designated Professor)

2. The First Meeting of the Student Council

The first meeting of the Student Council will generally be convened by the Co-ordinator. The Co-ordinator or one of the teachers acting on behalf of the Principal may address the first meeting of the Council and this will be an opportunity for the student members of the Council to raise any particular issues or concerns in relation to their role and the role of the Council.

CHAPTER 6: WORKING OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council as a whole has responsibility for:

- i. Working with the staff, Administration of the College and fellow students
- ii. Communicating and consulting with all of the students in the college
- iii. Involving as many students as possible in the activities of the Council
- iv. Planning and managing the Council's programme of activities for the year
- v. Managing and accounting for any funds raised by the Council

1. Planning and Managing the Work

While the Student Council members all have a part to play in the activities of the Council, not all can or need to be involved in organising the work. It is for this reason that the Council should appoint officers. It may also decide to establish subcommittees.

2. Officers

Every Student Council should appoint the necessary office bearers as listed above.

3. Sub committees

Rather than trying to plan and organise every activity during the year, a Student Council may find that it is more effective to use subcommittees to plan and oversee specific Council activities. Sub committees should be required to submit their plan to the Council for approval and should report back to the Council on their activities. One area where subcommittee might be useful is a fund-raising sub-committee. It is a matter for the Council to decide how many members of the Council will sit on a subcommittee and the Council may choose to dissolve a subcommittee at any time.

4. The role of the Officers

i. President:

The President is responsible for presiding over meetings of the Council. The President, with the Secretary, prepares the agenda for each meeting and, where necessary, signs the minutes once they have been agreed by the Council. The President may also be designated to represent the Council at meetings with Administration of the College.

ii. Vice-Presidents

The Vice-Presidents are responsible for assisting the President, and when the President is absent from a meeting s/he assumes the role of the President for that meeting.

iii. Secretary:

The Secretary, with the President, prepares the agenda for each meeting and the Secretary then circulates it to all the members of the Council either in advance of the meeting or at the start of the meeting. This will involve consulting with the other Council officers in order to decide what will be included on the agenda. All agendas should include a provision for 'Any other business'; this allows Council members to raise a matter for discussion in the event that it has not been included on the agenda.

The Secretary also keeps a record of Council meetings and any decisions taken by the Council (the minutes). If necessary these minutes can be circulated to all members of the Council either with the agenda for the next meeting or at the start of the next meeting. The Council can be given the opportunity to make any changes to the minutes before they are signed by the President.

The Cultural Secretary along with Joint cultural secretary will be responsible for planning and conducting cultural events. The Sports secretary and Joint sports secretary will be responsible for all sports activities. The literary and joint literary secretary will be responsible for organising literary events. The fine arts secretary and joint fine art secretary will be responsible for organising fine art event.

All Secretaries should coordinate with the staff advisors whenever necessary.

iv. Treasurer

The Treasurer is responsible for managing any funds raised by the Student Council and should keep a complete account of all income and expenditure of the Council. Advice and assistance in this regard may be provided by Administration of the College or a teacher acting on its behalf. The Treasurer should provide the Council with a complete financial report at the end of the college year. Given the responsibility of the post, a Student Council may reasonably require the Treasurer to be a senior student. It is the responsibility of the treasurer to obtain and maintain all documents from the outgoing treasure. As a general rule any payments made by the Treasurer should be countersigned or endorsed by another member of the Council or a teacher designated for this purpose.

CHAPTER 7: COMMUNICATION

Regular, effective communication is the key to success for any Student Council. This doesn't happen by itself and it is a good idea to develop ways of keeping the college community informed of and involved in the various activities planned by the Student Council. Some examples include:

- 1. Producing a student newsletter
- Providing updates to the Administration of the College, Principal and staff on the Student Council's activities and plans
- Keeping a student notice-board in the college where information on the Council's activities is posted
- 4. Announcing upcoming events
- 5. Providing an end of year report to the Administration of the College

The Council may also appoint a Public Relations Officer to take on these responsibilities.

1. Communication between the Council and Students:

The Student Council represents all students in the college. It is very important that students receive regular information on the plans and activities of the Student Council and that as many students as possible participate in events organised by the Council. Each member of the Council has a special responsibility and should ensure that their views are brought to the attention of the Council and that they remain fully informed of the Council's activities.

Procedures should be put in place to ensure that all students are fully informed about Council activities. One way of ensuring this would be to provide for regular meetings between individual members of the Student Council. The Council could also carry out a survey of student views on particular issues, or on the role of the Council itself.

2. Communication between the Council and the College Community:

Regular communication between the Student Council and Administration of the College, Principal and staff provides the basis for building a good and lasting relationship, based on trust and respect, between students and the rest of the college community. Much can be achieved where all members of the college community work together towards common goals, and good communication is vital if a common understanding is to be reached on what those goals are, and how best to achieve them.

Good communication doesn't simply mean keeping everyone informed of planned activities; it also involves seeking their views and suggestions. It means consulting with, and sharing ideas with the Administration of the College, Principal and staff members and listening to their suggestions and making sure that all sections of the college community understand the purpose and goals of the Student Council.

Having a teacher attend meetings of the Council on a regular basis also helps to improve communications. Also, the Principal may wish to address the Council from time to time on key issues affecting the college community.

CHAPTER 8: A GUIDE TO ORGANISING BETTER STUDENT COUNCIL MEETINGS

I. Be prepared!

Read any information sent out before the meeting, such as the Agenda or the Minutes of the last meeting. Prepare any points you want to raise.

II. Listen!

Listen carefully to what others have to say, and be open to other people's opinions. One of the purposes of meetings is to exchange ideas and information and to learn from each other.

III. Participate!

It is much more constructive to raise matters of concern to you at the meeting, rather than afterwards.

IV. Act!

If you undertake to follow up on a task, then do so, and be ready to report back at the next meeting.

1. Tips for the President:

- i. Be prepared for each meeting and try to ensure that the othermembers of the group have a written agenda before hand, if possible, so that they can also be prepared for the meeting. It may be useful to meet with the Secretary to agree an agenda in advance of a meeting, and an agenda should always include a provision for 'Any other businesses.
- ii. Start and close each meeting punctually.
- At the beginning of any meeting allow some opportunity for group members to put matters on the agenda under 'Any Other Business'. Then, keep to the agenda/items for discussion.
- It may be necessary to review and approve the minutes of the previous meeting at the beginning of a meeting and to sign the approved minutes.
- Present each item for discussion, ensuring that everyone who wishes to do so gets an opportunity to speak, and that each person is listened to.
- Give direction to meetings making sure that there is adequate time to deal with each item on the agenda.
- vii. Try to keep the meeting focused on the agenda.
- Call the meeting to order, if necessary (for example, if more than one person speaks at the same time or if an argument breaks out).
- ix. Help the process of decision making by asking people to clarify what they are saying if it is not easily understood, by summing up what someone has said and by stating clearly the decision that is being taken before it is noted in the minutes.
- x. In some instances, it may be necessary to hold a vote (for example, by a show of hands) on a particular issue.
- At the end of each meeting, make sure to arrange a date/time/venue/possible agenda items for the next meeting.

1. Tips for the Secretary

- i. Bring any correspondence received to the attention of the
- President before the agenda is drawn up. Perhaps some element of correspondence needs inclusion on the agenda for discussion/response.
- If necessary read the minutes of the previous meeting at the beginning of each meeting and make any necessary corrections before the minutes are signed by the President.
- iv. Record as accurately and as fairfy as possible the minutes of each meeting.
- Remember to record attendance, excuses, apologies and the time, date and venue of each meeting.

- Remember that you also have a right to participate in discussions...don't allow your role to stop you from contributing to the discussion of the various matters on the agenda.
- viii. Remember to record decisions made, who is to implement them and when.
- ix. Use the same book at each meeting for the taking of the minutes.
- x. Write up the minutes as soon as possible after each meeting.

CHAPTER 9: FUNDRAISING AND THE STUDENT COUNCIL:

A Student Council may wish to hold fundraising events. The Treasurer has responsibility for ensuring that any money raised by the Council is used for the purposes for which it was collected. A financial report should be provided to the Council at the end of the year by the treasurer.

I. When planning fund raising activities:

- i. Be clear about why the money is needed and what will be done with it
- ii. Get as many ideas as possible for activities
- iii. Make sure your planned activity will suit your college and is practical
- iv. Try to make sure that your event doesn't clash with another
- v. Make sure all students in the college are told about the event well in advance, and know what the Student Council plans to use the money for some examples of fundraising activities include art exhibition, food festival, sponsored activities etc. Administration of the College should be consulted about activities planned by a Student Council, as some activities may require adult supervision.

II. Sample Format for writing Minutes of the meeting:

The following is a sample format when creating minutes of a meeting. The minutes are usually completed by the Secretary, but can be assigned to someone else by the President.

CONSUMER PROTECTION ACTIVITY

CONSUMER LAW ADVOCACY AND RESEARCH CENTRE (CLARC)

Consumers are the life blood of every organization. There can be no business without a consumer. Unlike the traditional markets which were product oriented, modern market is customer or consumer oriented. However, businesses sometimes fail to realise it and in their hunt for profit end up harming the interests of the consumers. The Government of India under the Consumer Protection Act 2019 has granted the consumers certain rights against the exploitation of businesses. As citizens, it is our duty to be aware of these rights but as a law school, it is our job not simply to be aware of our rights but also to spread this awareness, to help people realise their rights and to bridge the gap between the general public and the appropriate authorities. Keeping that in mind, the faculty and students of BMS College of Law has established the Consumer Law Awareness and Research Centre (the CLARC). The Consumer Law Awareness and Research Centre is a wing with multidimensional purpose, to serve general public by creating awareness about rights and the government initiatives and providing legal advice to obtain justice, to assist the government by collecting data about the needs of the citizens and ensure their initiatives are reaching the public and helping students, our budding future lawyers to gain some field exposure and some hands-on experience.

Report on "Moot Court Training Session"

B.M.S COLLEGE OF LAW

"MOOT COURT TRAINING SESSION ORGANIZED BY BMSCL MOOT COURT SOCIETY"

BMS College of Law (BMSCL) Moot Court Society organized a moot court training session on 30th August, 2021. The Resource Person for the training session was Sri. Puneet Dinesh, Advocate, Co-founder, LiteStore. Also, the session was graced by Dr. Anitha D' Souza, Principal, BMS College of law, Sri. Harish Lambani, faculty coordinator, Sri. Abhishek Sharma P, faculty coordinator and Sri. Ankit A Shripatwar, faculty coordinator.

Sri. Puncet Dinesh highlighted various aspects of mooting including significance of mooting, legal research, legal writing, drafting memorials and pleadings to name a few. He said that mooting is not a mere academic exercise but it aids a law student in developing robust skill sets like legal research, public-speaking, team-coordination and so on. In a nutshell, he averred that mooting is a holistic activity. Also, he emphasized that mooting helps a law student in networking and increases his/her engagement with the legal fraternity including leading advocates and judges across the country. He shared with the students his rich experience in mooting. Further, he articulated that mooting increases a student's curiosity for knowledge, builds perseverance and commitment.

Sri. Puneet Dinesh also outlined some of the technicalities involved in a moot court competition like reading the fact sheet or the moot problem 10-15 times, addressing specific questions of law, conducting legal research by reading various judgments, commentaries and research papers, drafting memorials, note-making while researching and lastly pleadings. He stated that advocacy is not just about presenting arguments but it is about building a narrative, telling a story or establishing a context to contemporary issues. He also postulated that a law student while participating in moots should extensively research on the specific area of law involved. He concluded by saying that students should keep mooting again and again. The training session concluded with a brief question and answer session,
